Ragon Successor Will Be Named in Election Tuesday

Run-Off Primary If No Candidate Gets Clear Majority

3 SEEK NOMINATION

Hays, Rorex and Terry in Race for Fifth Congressional Seat

LITTLE ROCK — (AP) — The run-off primary — a controversial issue in many legislative sessions but adopted only this year — has its inaugural in the fifth district congressional race in which the first primary will be held next Tuesday.

A second primary, however, will be necessary only unless no single candidate receives a clear majority of all votes cast in the first primary.

Three candidates are seeking the democratic nomination equivalent to election for the unexpired term of Heartill Ragon, who resigned his congressional seat to accept the appointment as federal judge of the western district of Arkansas.

If a second primary is required, it will follow the first one by two weeks.

Candidates

The candidates are Brooks Hays of Little Rock, formerly of Russellville, now democratic national committeeman for the state and twice a candidate for governor against Harvey Parnell; Sam Rorex of Little Rock, also formerly Russellville where he and Hays and the latter's father were law partners; and David D. Terry of Little Rock, Pulaski county representative in the legislature and a newcomer to politics.

Rorex was regarded as an official spokesman for the administration while Parnell was governor and had the backing of the Parnell forces, among Hays' leading supporters is Prosecuting Attorney Carl E. Bailey of Little Rock, who is prosecutor for both Pulaski and Perry counties which are in the fifth district.

Terry, who was given one of the largest votes any candidate for representative ever received in this county last year, claims to be independent of any political faction.

Special Primary

The special primary was ordered after a bitter fight between the Hays and Rorex forces in a state democratic convention here in June. The state democratic central committee had ordered a fifth district convention to select the nominee and Rorex was reported to have had a majority of the delegates present.

The Hays-Bailey forces launched a bitter attack on this method of nominating and succeeded in having a special primary called.

The counties in the district are Pulaski, Perry, Faulkner, Conway, Pope, Yell, Franklin and Johnson.

Following the primary, it will be necessary for Governor J. M. Futrell to call a special general election in the district, which, however, would be a mere formality. Republicans have given no indication they will have a candidate.

Cotton States Will Slash Crop

Reduction on Basis of Acreage and Bales Is Approved

ATLANTA — (AP) — Unanimous endorsement of the federal government's cotton acreage reduction program for the next two years was given Tuesday by Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas growers at Dallas while a similar conference here endorsed both bales and acreage slashing and the meeting at Memphis approved any plan the government might adopt.

The meeting here was attended by growers from Alabama, the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida. At Memphis, Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas, and Tennessee were represented.

C. A. Cobb, cotton production chief, who addressed the Dallas meeting, sidetracked efforts to inject the controversial growers' code with the statement that this matter will have full attention at Memphis next Monday when glazing charges, hours of labor and competition will comprise the scheduled program.

Senator John Bankhead of Alabama led the fight here for a reduction through a restriction of the number of bales a producer could have ginned. He said the purpose of the entire plan would be defeated if it were anchored on an acreage reduction plan, because of the possibility of increasing the yield on the smaller number of acres through more intensive cultivation.

Vermont Votes 2 to 1 for Repeal

25th Straight State Joins With Others in Repeal Parade

MONTEPELIER, Vt. — (AP) — Vermont, long a rockbound prohibition stronghold, joined the parade of states favoring repeal of the Eighteenth amendment. It was the 25th consecutive state to record itself in opposition to retention of prohibition in the constitution. No state has voted for the amendment.

Repealed until last year, the most doubtful state yet to act, the Green Mountain voters recorded themselves by approximately two to one for ratification of the Twenty-first amendment by which the Eighteenth would be repealed.

The victory for the repealists, while sweeping was not entirely one-sided. At least two of the state 14 counties voted to support the Eighteenth amendment. Montpelier, capital city, went for repeal by more than two to one.

Fourteen delegates to a convention later in the month were selected as a group although they represented each of the state's counties.

Complete returns from the 248 towns and cities in Vermont gave: For repeal 41,279; against 20,572.

Arizona Goes On Record

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (AP) — While delegates to the convention drank beer and clanked the empty bottles to merrymen, Arizona formally ratified the proposed repeal of national prohibition Tuesday.

The state's 14 "wet" delegates, elected August 8, when Arizona voted 3/4 to one for ratification of the Twenty-first amendment, consumed 12 cases of beer — with the help of visitors, who were many — while casting the unanimous vote for repeal.

Nevada's Formal Approval

CARSON CITY, Nev. — (AP) — Formal ratification by Nevada of the Twenty-first amendment was completed here Tuesday with 40 delegates to a constitutional convention voting unanimously for repeal of the Eighteenth amendment.

B. & P. W. Club in Regular Meeting

Miss Edna Jones Hostess, District Chairman to Meet With Local Club

Miss Edna Jones was hostess to the regular meeting of the Hope Business and Professional Women's club at her home, 117 South Hervey street, Tuesday night.

A very clever program, composed of Mrs. Frank Hicks, Miss Mary Arnold and Miss Theresa Urban was enjoyed. In the contests, prizes were awarded to Miss Arnold and Miss Urban.

Miss Maude Lipscomb, club president, presided over a short business meeting at which time it was voted to change the next meeting date of the club to enable Mrs. L. R. Nash of Texarkana, Sixth District chairman, to meet with the Hope club. The date and place will be announced later.

At the close of the meeting the hostess served a salad plate with tea to the members and three guests.

Roosevelt Will Talk to Johnson On Ford Status

Recovery Administrator to Take Action If Code Is Violated

FORD PAYROLL HIGH

Car Magnate Doesn't Like Competition to Know His Business

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Roosevelt has arranged to confer Wednesday night with Recovery Administrator Johnson on the status of Henry Ford, who has failed to line up with other members of the automobile industry under NIRA agreements.

Ford's Move

CHICAGO — (AP) — The government will take no action to bring Henry Ford into the fold of the NRA unless he violates the rules of the automobile manufacturers' code, General Hugh Johnson asserted Tuesday.

He put the Ford situation into three words.

"It's Ford's move."

As to the probability of the Detroit automobile manufacturer's violating the auto code, "I don't think he will," said Johnson.

Ford's minimum pay is high enough to top the minimum set up by the general code, and the NRA director indicated the only avenue by which Ford might come into conflict with the recovery program would be his dealings with employees.

"If Ford employees should organize and send representatives to negotiate with him," General Johnson stated, "and Ford refused to meet them, he would of course be violating the auto code."

"Probably he won't violate the auto code," he said. "If he does, I'll have to do something."

Objection Given

The objection to the auto code which has been attributed to Ford — that the manufacturer dislikes the prospect of having his business known to his competitors — General Johnson thought not a valid objection.

"The code may require a certain amount of openness," he said, "but I wouldn't stand for prying into anyone's business secrets. However, it's no secret what it costs to make cars, and two or three agencies already report what Ford is doing."

"The wages in the auto code are minimum wages. If Ford pays more than that, why, the more the merrier."

"If Ford doesn't sign a certificate of compliance, he can't have the blue eagle," the general said. "He can't sell any cars to the government and many of the states won't buy any."

Wages Hiked

DETROIT — (AP) — An upward revision in wages in the plants of the Ford Motor Company, bringing daily pay for some classes of employees to $4.00, as against a previous $4 minimum, became known Tuesday, apparently Henry Ford's first move in "going one better" the NRA automobile code from which he is a holdout.

Rumors of the upward revision were confirmed at the Ford offices, although officials said they were not ready to make an announcement pending completion of the wage adjustment.

It was said, however, that approximately 10,000 of the 40,000 Ford employees have benefited by the increase in basic pay rates.

Shot to Death in Attempted Escape

Crazed Quartet Overcome by Bullets and Use of Tear Gas

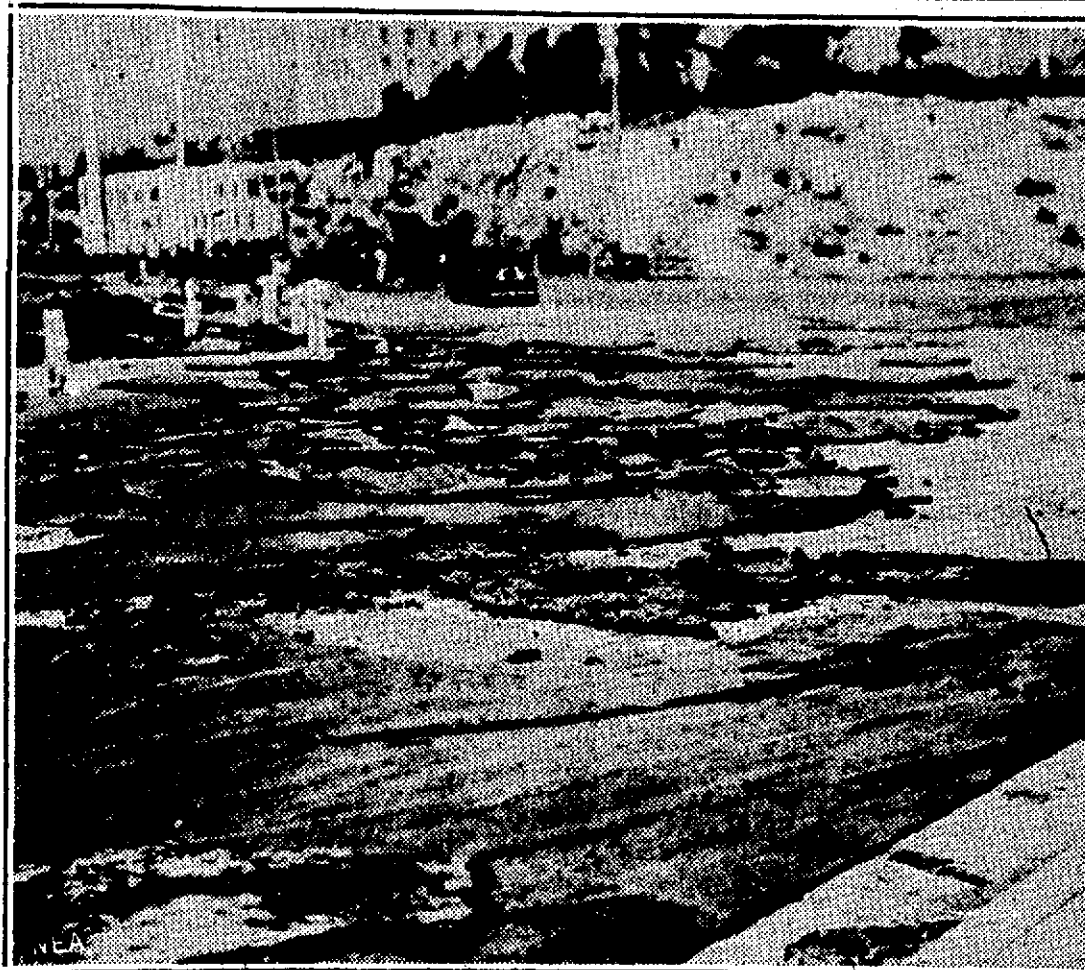

MATTEWAN, N. Y. — (AP) — One inmate was shot to death by a state trooper at the state hospital for criminally insane and two others were overcome by using tear gas when officers forced their way into a room where a crazed quartet had barricaded themselves during an attempted escape early Wednesday morning.

The victim shot to death was Ray Fisher, 26, of Buffalo, leader of the break for liberty. He was armed with a revolver, and threatened to shoot the trooper when the latter fired a bullet through his head.

Deer, Perched on Rocky Ledge, Makes Way Off

WATKINS GLEN, N. Y. — (AP) — A seven-point buck deer, perched on a perilous rocky ledge here for the past 10 days in defiance of every human effort to free him, yielded to a gentle urging of two park employees early Wednesday, and made its own way down a precipitous slope into a stream that flows through the park, and then scampered off into the woods.

Legionnaires To Little Rock Meet

State Membership Conference Sunday—Arkansas Quota Is 11,194

Post officials of the local post, American Legion, and many ex-service men in this county are expected to attend the state membership conference Sunday in Little Rock.

Membership efforts are well under way and organization is being perfected to secure the membership quota of the Leslie Huddleston Post No. 12, by November 11th. This marks the first time in the history of the post when such intensive efforts have been launched so early in order to get the membership on department rolls. The state quota of 11,194 is expected to be reached before December 10.

Commander-elect Dewey Hendrix of the local post when approached about the matter stated in part: "That the outlook for an early membership this year and strong legion activity in this post are to be expected. We are taking advantage of early organization for membership and hope to do great things in the legion this year. Inasmuch as this year has been designated as the Bodenhamer Memorial Year, it is expected that the membership will reach heights never obtained before. Even though the recent depression has hit hard, it is expected that more men will enroll in the legion this year than in the past, and that the members of our post can be expected to do their part in the performance of the department and national program."

The state membership committee announced that Department Commander, Charles Q. Kelley, will make a state tour during the months of September and October, it being planned for him to visit one district each day until the total of sixteen districts have been covered. He plans to visit each post in the district on the day that he is a guest in that particular district.

To Install Officers

Officers for the coming year will be installed at Thursday night's meeting of the local Legion host. Ched Hall is outgoing commander, and Dewey Hendrix is commander-elect.

All Legion members and all former service men are urged to attend. Some plans for activities during the coming year will be discussed. The meeting is called for 7:30 p. m. Thursday night at the city hall.

Sleeping Malady Is Termed Only Lockjaw

LITTLE ROCK — (AP) — Arkansas' first case of "sleeping sickness," reported by doctors, was diagnosed Tuesday as lockjaw. The victim, Mrs. Frances Ross of Little Rock, remained at a hospital here in a critical condition.

Physicians said they changed their diagnosis when Mrs. Ross developed convulsions Tuesday. The cause of the lockjaw had not been determined as doctors were unable to locate an infection.

Six Business Buildings at McGehee Destroyed

McGEEHEE, Ark. — (AP) — A fire here Tuesday destroyed six business establishments and part of the Greystone Hotel resulting in a loss estimated at $125,000. The loss was covered partially by insurance.

A high wind threatened to spread the fire to nearby buildings, but the combined efforts of firemen from Monticello, Dermott and McGeehee confined the blaze to the destroyed buildings.

To Hold Pasture Meeting Friday

Muldro and Sargent to Lead Discussion at Experiment Farm Here

M. W. Muldro, state livestock specialist, and J. W. Sargent, Pulaski county extension agent and pasture authority, will lead the discussions at the special pasture meeting to be held on the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture Fruit and Truck Branch Experiment Station Friday afternoon beginning at 2 p. m., said G. W. Ware, assistant director in charge.

J. L. Wright, agricultural district agent, and several visiting county agents and leading farmers will also be given an opportunity to relate their pasture experiences under various conditions in the different sections.

The most valuable part of the meeting, however, will be the first hand information offered by the various pasture experiments and feed crops on the experiment station. Every visitor can see for himself the best pasture practices and plan combinations for his own special conditions.

With pending crop reductions and other farm adjustments, many farmers are making plans to improve and expand their thin soil and abandoned acres into profitable grazing lands. They realize more than ever that good pastures afford the cheapest feed. Now is the time to start these plans and changes so advantage can be taken of the surplus time during the fall and winter, Mr. Ware said.

The Friday afternoon pasture meeting will be brief, timely, to the point, and generally helpful. All persons having pasture or livestock problems are invited to attend.

Beauty Shop Operators to Little Rock Code Meet

No Intervention In Cuban Revolt

Marines Are Ready to Move If Situation Becomes Necessary

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Roosevelt is concentrating on an Atlantic fleet in the vicinity of Cuba for protection of American lives in the event more violence occurs there, but it was said Wednesday that he was contemplating no intervention as the latest information told of no disturbance.

The battleship Mississippi, cruising in southern waters, was ordered Wednesday to join four other American vessels already in the Cuban neighborhood.

Marines Ready

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Roosevelt has ordered concentration of 1200 marines, equipped as an expeditionary force at Quantico, Virginia, with instructions to be ready to move immediately if a need arises.

The marines were rushed to Virginia from New York, Philadelphia, Washington and other points. The movement was well ahead of schedule Wednesday, and could be moved toward Cuba immediately if the need is deemed necessary.

Swanson to Havana

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Roosevelt Wednesday directed Secretary of the Navy Swanson to proceed directly to Havana aboard the cruiser Indianapolis. Swanson said that he had no specific orders.

Relief to Schools by Federal Funds

Any School May Participate in Funds If Regulations Modified

LITTLE ROCK — (AP) — District school boards were designated Wednesday by the State Emergency Relief commission as controlling authorities for the supervision of relief to the school program for employment of needy school teachers.

Plans for administering federal funds recently authorized to aid unemployed and unpaid teachers is subject to the approval of the federal relief administration.

At the same time this plan was made public, State Relief Director W. R. Dyess disclosed that the commission is asking a modification of regulations in order to permit any school in the state to participate in relief funds, provided that a large portion of the pupils were from rural sections.

BENTON, Ark. — (AP) — Mark H. Shank, Akron, Ohio, attorney, was reported Tuesday by the Saline county grand jury for the poison murders of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Colley and their two children.

The indictment was handed up to Circuit Judge Toler, but was not turned over immediately to the Saline county sheriff, and officials declined to comment, pending service on Shank.

1500 Are Injured As Cities, Farms Smashed by Wind

Rehabilitation Begins in Devastated Area of Rio Grande Valley

DAMAGE IN MILLIONS

Picture of Gale Is Related. Relief Trains and Provisions Arrive on Scene

EDINBURG, Texas — (AP) — Rehabilitation of the devastated hurricane which swept through the lower Rio Grande valley near Harlingen and Brownsville, was begun Wednesday as relief trains from the north arrived with doctors, nurses and food stuffs.

The casualty list climbed to 32 killed and approximately 1500 injured. Twenty persons lost their lives at Brownsville, 10 at Harlingen and two at Rio Hondo.

Improvised hospitals in public buildings and larger homes became scenes of greater activity Wednesday.

Food and water supplies were hurriedly assembled at San Antonio, and sent to Corpus Christi and other points where there was fear of additional suffering.

One train alone from San Antonio brought 150 army doctors, nurses and ambulance drivers to the distressed area.

EDINBURG, Texas — (AP) — Laid waste by a terrific hurricane, the three Rio Grande valley cities of Brownsville, San Benito and Harlingen, were shattered Tuesday night, buildings blasted to the ground, streets under water, and all survivors in immediate need of assistance.

Twelve persons were known to have been killed, more than 50 injured seriously and property damage will run into many millions of dollars.

Ten were killed at Harlingen and two at Rio Hondo. These were the only verified deaths. Seven were injured in a hospital at Mercedes and 48 were at Harlingen. Of the injured at Harlingen, 10 probably will die.

W. R. Marler, engineer of a north-bound train on the Missouri Pacific reported upon his arrival here from Brownsville that the bodies of three persons had been recovered from the hurricane area in the lower Rio Grande valley, and there undoubtedly are at least 100 more.

He said the body of one person was found at Brownsville and two others were located at Harlingen.

He said hastily-organized rescue crews from Brownsville, Harlingen and San Benito had been unable to reach outlying and rural sections to determine accurately the fatalities.

Marler confirmed reports of heavy damage in the three cities, asserting that all buildings except the largest and strongest fell before the wind's attack.

Bodies On Highway

Meager reports from towns on the edge of the devastated area told of bodies lying on the highway between the cities.

A newspaperman, Jack Fowler, who made a trip from Brownsville to McAllen estimated 200 persons were injured.

"The ruin is almost impossible of description," he said. "Small houses have been smashed to kindling wood in the three cities which apparently bore the brunt of the storm. Brownsville, Harlingen and San Benito. Fronts of brick buildings have been battered to pieces. Debris is everywhere."

Property damage was tremendous. The loss to citrus groves was estimated unofficially at more than $3,000,000.

Few Buildings Unscathed

Only the most substantial buildings were standing in Brownsville as the gale blew lesser structures away like chaff.

Municipal water and light plants were put out of commission, telegraph and telephone lines were battered to the ground and highways torn up.

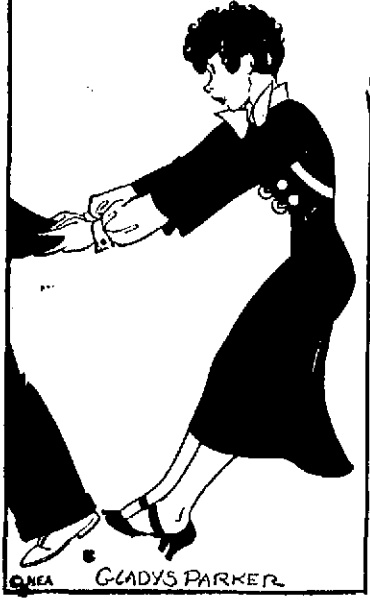

J. F. Reed, assistant director of the Texas Rehabilitation and Relief Commission, announced that Harry Hopkins, federal relief director, had authorized purchase of groceries for the distressed.

Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson announced from the state capital at Austin that arrangements had been made to send army surgeons, nurses and medical and food supplies to the valley on a special train.

One hundred and fifty regular army soldiers will accompany them and they will be augmented by every available member of the Texas Ranger force to guard against depredations.

John L. Lewis Goes Prestige Through
 "The People's Choice" Expected to Be Most Important Factor in A. F. of L. Election
 Associated with "The People's Choice" Expected

WASHINGTON.—President Roosevelt telephoned General Johnson from the White House last night and told him to get the coal operators and miners into conference.

That was the turning point toward an epochal NRA agreement which includes complete recognition by operators of the United Mine Workers.

Later representatives here had received private assurance that Roosevelt would hold to the policy in the news columns to protect their readers from a flood of space-taking memorials. The Star disclaims responsibility for the sale, return or return of any unsolicited manuscripts.

When non-union operators were behind closed doors with President John Lewis and other U. M. W. officials the result was a foregone conclusion.

Non-union operators, under pressure from the administration and before from a strong union with 300,000 members, couldn't refuse.

They faced a certain strike if they didn't play ball and probably would have had the police powers of the government as well as public opinion against them. And they probably would have lost the strike.

Lewis' Griping Pretext
 The recognition victory enormously enhances the prestige of Lewis. He will soon become the most powerful figure in the A. F. of L. and you can look for a realignment of control there, if not of titular leadership.

President Sidney Hillman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers is expected to apply for membership in the A. F. of L. for his union soon.

Thereafter Hillman—often called "labor's statesman"—Lewis and Major George L. Berry of the pressmen's union are expected to form the nucleus of an aggressive bloc in the federal councils which will be likely to end the reign of the conservative "old guard" of the type of Matthew Woll.

The three are members of the Labor Advisory Board. Hillman and Lewis have been the outstanding vigorous labor organizers under the recovery act; they came to respect each other greatly. Lewis has helped Hillman in strikes which occurred when the latter organized miners' daughters in coal section shirt factories.

"Nosing" a Tree
 Citizens' Conservation Camp boys are learning forestry rapidly.

In a Maryland camp the other day one was instructed to go out and "nose" a tree recently felled.

An hour later his boss found him sniffing the trunk vigorously, complaining that it smells like—

("Nosing," if you don't know, means trimming off a tree's limbs.)

Economic Theories
 Dexter M. Keezer, brilliant economist chosen to succeed Professor William F. Ogburn as director of NRA's Consumers' Advisory Board, is only 23. He has an insatiable curiosity about all sorts and conditions of people. He spends many hours learning firsthand the personal economic problems of filling station attendants, Pullman porters, clerks, farmers and folks like that. How they live and how they manage to live are questions which fascinate him.

Keezer, who has been a newspaperman and taught economics at Cornell, University of Colorado, University of North Carolina and Dartmouth, believes no one can say this or that economic theory is correct; that you can only teach college students how to gather and relate information. Conclusions are impossible, he holds, because the economic world changes so rapidly that one cannot know the absolute value of economic factors.

YOUR CHILDREN

"Spend as much money as you can. The quicker we do so the sooner NRA will achieve its end, and we can ease our consciences by feeling that extravagance these days is a patriotic duty."

But right now many a mother is worrying about buying clothes for her girl or boy going to college, when she has a very thin pocketbook to do it on. Tuition and carfare cost money, to say nothing of board and allowance and books.

Let me give you some heartening advice. If you cannot get an entire new outfit for Laura or Jane, or for Ben or Dick, don't worry. If you cannot get any outfit for them at all, don't worry either.

The Clothes Problem
 I think that every mother who sends a son or daughter to college for the first time has a feeling that a regular trousseau is necessary.

It isn't at all. The average college student requires little more variety of clothes than he does at home.

True, he or she should have a certain supply of fundamentals as any one does who is going away for awhile and as for trick clothes, they can easily wait. Once I fixed a girl for school, only to have her write after she got there that many of the things I had bought her she didn't need, and many I hadn't she did.

It was, in a way, all to do over again.

The best way is to take it easy. Get what the young sojourner really needs to begin on, plus anything your pocketbook will stand at the present. Then carefully take every measurement, hat shoe, stocking, dress or suit size, neck-band, arm waist, wrist, shoulder—everything. Write it all down and put away where it won't get lost.

When Letters Arrive
 When the letters begin to arrive—Rose needs an evening dress, after all, for they are to be allowed out certain nights; or she finds most of the girls there wearing swaggy suits instead of fall coats—or vice versa—then you will be able to get the needed article as easily as if Rose were at home trying it on. Or if John writes that he doesn't need his new tennis racket, or he is trying out for a new instead of wants some shirts with an under cross-piece, you won't be exchanging sizes until both you and the postman are worn out.

Put in some summer clothes when you pack the trunk. Schools wear light clothes pretty late—besides there are many warm fall days.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

©1933 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

If you really intend to glorify yourself this fall, a clear complexion should be your first aim.

No amount of cosmetics will hide the fact that your skin isn't clear and you can't attain true beauty if it is muddy or sallow.

Your health is reflected in your complexion. Very often, getting your body in good condition will clear up your skin. If the digestive tract does not function properly, the chances are that your complexion will be grayish or yellowish.

It may be that you need to see a reliable physician or it may be that you aren't drinking enough water or getting enough sleep and exercise.

Try to get eight hours sleep every night for a month and see if your complexion doesn't take on a new clearness that it lacked before.

Eat plenty of fresh fruit and green vegetables and don't eat between meals.

There are some new skin clearing creams on the market too, and these can be used in conjunction with your health routine.

They generally come in two strengths. The mild one is to be used as a preventive for a discolored complexion. Apply the cream after you have cleaned your face at night and leave it on while you sleep.

NEXT: Stimulating your skin.

The clothing industry deserves a lot of sympathy. Just as it thought it had the depression licked, along came this nudist fad.

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TODAY

construction superintendent temporarily working in Lake City. Dick wants Eve to give up working but she refuses.

NAT BROOMFIELD, an advertising man employed by another store, becomes infatuated with EVE. He is a very nice fellow, but she is not in love with him. BROOMFIELD has been forcing himself on her.

Now go on with the story. CHAPTER XXVII

SATURDAY evening Dick took Eve to dinner at a popular restaurant known as the Old Plantation. The atmosphere was that of the hospitable old south. Pretty, mulatto girls, wearing bandanna aprons, checked gingham dresses, served Maryland fried chicken and corn fritters. A string quartet played lively tunes and Eve soon found herself dancing with spirit.

Later they were joined by a group of Dick's business friends, and she enjoyed the evening so much she was almost able to forget that Bixby's had lost $2000 through a mistake in her department.

The next day she and Dick went for a long ride in the country. Office cars seemed far away and Eve arrived home tired and sleepy from being so long in the fresh air. But Monday morning as she neared the office she began to feel nervous. Barnes would be back today and the dreaded interview must take place.

The advertising manager summoned her to his office at 9:30. Eve managed a tremulous smile as she entered but Barnes' face was grim. His voice crisp.

"I scarcely need tell you, Mrs. Rader," he began, "that the price error in Saturday's coat advertisement was the worst of the kind the store has ever had. I am amazed that you should have permitted such a blunder."

Eve started to speak but he silenced her with a curt gesture. "It is one of the things that simply cannot be explained away or smoothed over," he continued.

"But you don't understand!" she began.

"I understand the result of the mistake and results are what count in this department," he went on. "I feared your marriage would interfere with your interest in your work here. All I have to say now is—don't let anything of the sort happen again!" There was a grim threat in the words.

Furious that he had not permitted her to defend herself, Eve returned to her desk. Mona had scored against her at every point. Eve was tempted to go to Mr. Bixby about the affair; tempted, too, to resign. But she knew that was exactly what Mona had hoped might happen and therefore it was the one thing Eve determined not to do.

AT 10:30 a racy-checked little woman with a youthful face and graying hair appeared and asked for Mr. Barnes. Arlene escorted her to his office.

A few moments later the buzzer sounded for Eve and she was introduced to the newcomer. "This is Mrs. Penney," said Barnes. "She will take Miss Vial's place."

Eve took the new artist into the outer office and introduced her to the rest of the advertising staff and to her new duties.

"At first I felt sorry for her," Eve told Dick that night, "but after she began to work I knew why Barnes had hired her. That woman has genius!"

Mrs. Penney adjusted herself easily to the office routine and Eve blessed her for that. With things running smoothly again, Barnes resumed a more pleasant attitude toward his co-workers and the tension was lifted.

Apparently mild and yielding Mrs. Penney proved to be firm and self-reliant to a surprising degree. Even Mona, who usually found some means of getting her own ends in such matters, could neither outwit nor wheedle Mrs. Penney into taking care of minor details of office routine which were Mona's responsibility or exchanging lunch periods to suit Mona's whims.

Mrs. Penney was a widow with a young daughter who was in college. Every stroke of the artist's

In "The Farm" Louis Bromfield presents the passing of the old middle west—the middle west that blossomed before the Civil War, a land of independent farmers, where no one was very rich and no one was very poor and all men admitted their mutual equality.

Mr. Bromfield's novel describes that period by tracing the history of an Ohio farm from 1815 to the present day. It is a loose, rambling sort of story. It lacks a plot, in the ordinary sense of the word. But it does present a unified picture, and it is a well-written, interesting and moving story.

The old middle west, says Mr. Bromfield, came about as close to exemplifying the Jeffersonian ideal of democracy as any society that ever existed. It was, perhaps, as good a place to live as the earth ever saw. And it is gone, now, forever.

The rise of industrialism is the villain in Mr. Bromfield's piece. America, he says, was corrupted by the love of riches. It lost sight of the pioneer virtues to become grasping and mercenary. It ruined its farmer class and put in its place a sordid commercialism that had neither ideals nor integrity.

Mr. Bromfield has made the old Ohio more idyllic, possibly, than was actually the case. Since he needed to put highlights in his picture I believe he was justified. My one objection to his book is that it is so good that it ought to be just a little bit better.

America is still moving. The aftermath of the pioneer era is about to resolve itself into something new. We have a right, I think, to expect a first-class novelist to sense that change and to interpret it. Has Mr. Bromfield glimpsed himself by exiling himself from the Ohio which is not what it used to be, and settling in Europe.

Printed by Harpers, "The Farm" sells for $2.50.

Judging by the experience of many farmers the hardest thing to raise on a farm is money.

23 Are Killed, 100 Injured in Wreck

Passenger Train Is Rammed by Freight Engine in New York

BINGHAMTON, N. Y.—(AP)—Twenty-three persons were reported dead and more than 100 injured as rescuers pulled mangled bodies from the wreckage of a fast Chicago to New York Erie passenger train which was rammed by a freight engine here Tuesday night.

Twelve died at the scene and 11 more died en route to the hospital or shortly after they arrived. Many others were said to be in a critical condition, some dying and others badly crippled.

M. K. King of Elmira, engineer, of the milk train, said he did not see the red signal which warned of the coming passenger train. He said he jammed on his brakes just before he hit the other train. The milk train was en route from Hornell to Hoboken, N. J., with a load of milk.

The rear car of the passenger was a comparatively new steel coach and the next one was wooden. When the locomotive hit the heavy steel car it crashed the light wooden frame of the other to splinters.

Shortly after the wreck the Binghamton national guard was called out to aid in taking care of the dead and injured. The stretcher and ambulance corps was on the scene a few minutes later.

The passenger train was just gaining full speed at the city limits when the freight engine, pulling into the main line from a side track, smashed into the rear coaches.

Two cars were tossed into the air and fell away from the track, a mass of twisted steel and splintered wood, leaving passengers scattered along the right-of-way and buried in the wreckage.

The bodies of the dead were so badly mangled in many cases that identification was impossible. Injured and dying were rushed to Binghamton hospitals in ambulances and volunteer automobiles as fast as they could be removed from the heap of debris.

Our Chic twins illustrate the evening mode in frocks of sheer crepe—cornflower blue. Velvet ribbon, in a deeper hue, accents the youthful round neck-line and accents the slender waist.

SIMPLICITY and charm, as usual, distinguish this presentation of the Chic twins. Perhaps you would prefer this model in a pastel shade of diaphanous chiffon. In any event, you can procure a pattern in any of six sizes: 14, 16, 18 and 20 (with corresponding bust measurements of 33½, 35, 36½ and 38) and 40 and 42. Size 18 requires 3½ yards of 39-inch material. For trimming, the neck and bow require 1½ yards, and the belt and bow 2½ yards.

To secure a pattern and simple sewing chart of this model, tear out this sketch and mail it to Julia Boyd, 103 Park Avenue, New York, N. Y., together with 15 cents in coin. Be sure to enclose, on a separate sheet of paper, your name, full address, your size, the number of this pattern (No. 196), and mention the name of this newspaper.

State High Schools Turn to Football

Little Rock, Fort Smith and El Dorado Loom as Title Contenders

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Arkansas high school football squads have taken to the gridirons in advance of the opening of the school term to prepare for the football season ahead.

Most of the coaches started workouts of their squads on September 1, the earliest date permitted by the Arkansas Athletic association. Some squads are drilling twice daily.

A two-weeks spring training session authorized two years ago by the association eliminated many aspirants and squads this year generally are smaller in number.

Though a plan for determining definitely the state high school championship each year has been advanced by coaches, no arrangement has been adopted, and the matter still is open to dispute.

Little Rock, El Dorado and Fort Smith appear strong contenders this year with each team having several letter men returning, while Pine Bluff faces the problem of replacing such backfield stars as Goldberg and Davis and a tackle to replace "Red" Davis, and Hot Springs having lost considerable strength through graduation.

Gaynor and Baxter Star in "Paddy"

Gary Cooper Film Closes at Saenger Wednesday Night

Warner Baxter is co-starred with Janet Gaynor in "Paddy, The Next Best Thing," the picture that comes Thursday and Friday to the Saenger with the usual Thursday bargain matinee. This is the first time in two years that the popular stars have been teamed, the last previous occasion being "Daddy Long Legs."

Miss Gaynor, who comes September 21st to the Saenger in "Adorable," with Henry Garat as her starring partner, has the title role in "Paddy," and Baxter will play the part of Lawrence Blake. Janet's role is said to be in striking contrast with anything she has played. Her dialogue will have a flavor of Irish dialect.

Gary Cooper closes Wednesday night in "One Sunday Afternoon," the story of two fellows who wandered for over 20 years if he had married the wrong girl.
